Aims and Scope:

International Politics defines itself as critical in character, truly international in scope, and totally engaged with the central issues facing the world today. Taking as its point of departure the simple but essential notion that no single approach has all the answers, it aims to provide a global forum for a rapidly expanding community of scholars from across the range of academic disciplines.

International Politics addresses contemporary transnational issues and global problems across geographic, theoretical and methodological boundaries. It is a forum for scholarly research and policy-relevant essays.
