

Pensions: An International Journal
Call for Papers
Special Issue: Volume 14 Issue 3
For publication in 2009

A Global Perspective: Interactions between Current and Future World
Demographics, Economics, Pensions and Workplace Requirements

Editor: Robin Ellison

Guest Editor: Roger Mattingly

Deadline for submissions: February 27, 2009

Pensions has established itself as a leading publication on the day-to-day practice of pensions administration, law and investment. In order to achieve the goals as an international journal of high quality, Pensions invites top players, academics and practitioners in various fields of expertise to submit interesting manuscripts of theoretical and practical insights.

We are delighted to announce that Roger Mattingly will be our Guest Editor for this exciting special issue. Roger is the Director of HSBC Actuaries & Consultants Ltd, and also Chairman of the Public Relations Committee of The Society of Pension Consultants.

Pensions welcomes original contributions on the following topics:

- National pensions
- World demographics
- The global economy
- International workplaces requirements

The special issue will focus on these four major “sustainability” components and will aim to forecast future interactions, on a global scale.

Preference will be given to articles that discuss the above topics in the following countries:

- UK
- USA
- Europe (Germany, France, Sweden, Poland)
- Asia (China, India, Japan)
- Brazil
- Australia

Submissions are welcomed in the form of abstracts and/or papers. We look for papers between 2,500 and 7,000 words and full notes for prospective authors are available at http://www.palgravejournals.com/pm/author_instructions.html

The readership of the journal includes pension professionals, lawyers, accountants, corporate directors and managers.

Please send submissions to:

Ms Victoria Rae, Publishing Editor, Pensions,

Email: v.rae@palgrave.com Tel: +44 (0) 1256 302959 x 3064, or

Roger Mattingly, Guest Editor, Pensions

Email: roger.mattingly@hsbc.com Tel: + 44(0) 1727 775000

Prospective contributors with questions concerning the potential suitability of topics, the editor's expectations, or additional requirements about this special issue are invited to contact Victoria Rae or Roger Mattingly at the email addresses above.